WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1888

Major Reed did not receive the appointment of Associate Judge of Idaho, notwithstanding his excellent endorsements by his home bar, the Kentucky delegation in Congress. The President had refused Judge Stanley, of Stanford, a year ago, and told him that he should have the next piece of pie, and kept his word. Major Reed feels complimented by the grand endorsement he received, and gracefully accepts the situation.

Congressman McCrory is at home, and is happy over the result of his speech in the House and the passage of his bill for a conference of American nations. He says that it will pass the Senate without opposition, and the President has remarked, unofficially, that a Commissioner shall at once be sent to the countries of Central and South America.

Senate resolution asking Kentucky's Senators and Congressmen to favor the passage of a resolution by Congress for appropriation for the Centennial Exposition at Cincinnati. Adopted.

Senate bill 855, regulating the prices of record books paid for by the State and used by Circuit and County Clerks, was in a House amendment. Concurred in.

RAILROAD MEETING.

Announcement by hand bills was made on last Saturday forenoon that Senator Harris and Representative Chennault would speak at the Court house at 3 o'clock on the new railroad charter. At that hour the House was filled, and Senator Harris made one of his best speeches.

He explained that the Three Forks charter did not extend from Richmond to Nicholasville, and that it could not be voted by Madison or Jessamine to the Louisville Southern, hence a combination of the two charters was attempted, but that there was objection by other Senators and Representatives because the Three Forks charter allowed a vote to be taken in adjoining counties, and there were other objectionable features. Thereupon an amendment was secured to allow both Jessamine and Madison to vote for the Louisville Southern.

But owing to the much patched up condition of the line from Nicholasville to Beattyville, it was deemed best to have one charter covering the line, hence the charter found elsewhere in this issue of THE CLIMAX entitled, "The Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville Railroad." The bill passed the Senate and House and was sent to the Governor.

But before it was signed the Richmond delegation, as set forth last week, went to Frankfort and asked that the bill be re-committed and several additional provisions be inserted. To this Senator Harris and Representative Chennault assented, but did not do any one else, so the bill was re-committed, passed both houses, and was signed by the Governor.

The provisions inserted were such as could and ought to be and will be included in the order of the county court, submitting the proposition. Senator Harris said that the county court was the bulk of a county's liberty and safety and that a county's salvation generally rested in the will of her people. He wanted every man to be present when the county court formulated the proposition, and have a hand in the matter. The Senator said that he had introduced a bill forbidding the county voting more aid to railroads that would make the railroad debt greater than 4 per cent. of the taxable property at one time.

Senator Harris further said that he had all the railroad facilities he wanted, so far as his personal interests were concerned—that a railroad ran through his yard, and a platform was in front of his door. But the country ought to be developed. Madison ought to be put in close communication with the east and rich mineral fields of Eastern Kentucky. The live stock and grain and orchard and garden products of Madison ought to go up to the mineral regions for the thousands of miners and others, and that the raw material ought to come down to Richmond to be manufactured. The Senator said that he had introduced a bill in this county, and that he had a desire to be bankrupted by taxation, and didn't intend to be—that the right kind of a proposition, as the county court could formulate, would not hurt anybody—on the contrary would be the making of the country. The Senator was applauded all through his speech.

Representative Chennault came next and endorsed all Senator Harris had said, and thought it not necessary to say much more, but he made a good speech nevertheless. Said he had not read the charter since it was published, but if it read in the paper as it did in the bill, it was a good charter. He said that he had faithfully watched the interests of his constituents and felt that he had left no stone unturned.

W. B. Smith followed in a lengthy and appropriate speech that was warmly received.

Mr. A. R. Barnum, who by mere accident was present, arose at the conclusion of Mr. Smith's speech, and said he was in favor of a road to the mountains, provided a safe and reasonable proposition be put before the people. He then proposed to convert the speaking into a meeting and put a motion that Col. Wm. M. Irvine be called to the chair which was done. Col. Irvine took the chair, and Mr. Barnum offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the people of Madison county, in mass meeting assembled, take notice of the proposition of the Hon. A. T. Chennault, and our Senator, John D. Harris, to convert the charter for a railroad from Nicholasville by way of Richmond to Beattyville, meet with our cordial and hearty approval, believing that they have faithfully and carefully worked out the material interests of the county.

The meeting then adjourned.

SPEEDWELL, Ky., March 9, 1888.

I see you have carried an article from the Register of last week giving a history of fine horses raised in Madison county which was two mistakes. Harry Wilkes was bred by James M. Hendrix, of Speedwell, Ky., and Garfield was bred by Nannie Terry Hendrix of the same place.

Respectfully,

The Register ought to be more careful.

Old and reliable medicines are the best. I have been prescribed for years for all kinds of blood diseases, and have found nothing so reliable as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is a perfect cure for all blood diseases, and is a perfect cure for all blood diseases, and is a perfect cure for all blood diseases.

I have taken everything; went to the Hot Springs; I have doctored with the doctors here; I have done nothing but take medicine for 10 years. When I commenced using Hall's Catarrh Cure I was almost dead. I sent for the medicine, and I took it. I feel better now than I have for 10 years. BAKING POWDERS.

Official Test by the Ohio State Food Commission.

Analysis of the Chief Brands in the Market—Their Strength and Value Ascertained.

The Ohio State Dairy and Food Commission, under the direction of the Legislature of that State, has made public the result of its recent examination of the leading brands of baking powders of this market. As many of the brands analyzed are in use throughout the country, the report of the Commission will be found of general interest.

The startling fact is brought out by the report that of thirty different brands of baking powder analyzed, twenty are made from alum, a substance declared by the highest medical authorities to be injurious to health when used in food.

The Commission classifies the baking powders into three general divisions, according to their value:

1st. Cream of Tartar Baking Powders;

2d. Phosphate Baking Powders;

3d. Alum Baking Powders.

The Commission explains that the best baking powder is that which, the ingredients being beautiful, gives off the largest amount of leaving gas, and leaves the smallest amount of residue in the bread. A small amount of carbonate of ammonia, which is considered healthful, is used in some of the cream of tartar powders to give them a higher strength. The Commission says that the alum is undoubtedly a harmful salt. The report ranks the powders and shows the amount in each of inert materials, which in using it would appear as residue in the bread, as follows:

Per Cent. Inert, or Residue.

The large amount of inert matter or residue in both the phosphate and alum powders will be noted. This in the phosphate powders is largely of value, in the alum powders it is chiefly of value in the powder, and is of no value to the consumer. It is of no value to the consumer. It is of no value to the consumer.

In comparing the first two powders on the list, for instance, the Royal and Dr. Price's, the inert matter in Price's is seen to be about five times as much as in the former, a difference of 71.37 per cent. the Royal being more than Price's by a corresponding figure.

The carbonate of leaving gas produced by the powders indicates their strength; and their true value may be ascertained by considering the amount of this gas in connection with their inert matter of residue as shown above. The higher the percentage of gas and the lower the percentage of residue the better the leaving powder. These percentages, as found in some of the most familiar powders, are given as follows:

Per Cent of Name. Leaving Gas. Residue.

Royal.....11.80.....7.25

Sterling.....11.....12.63

Pearson's.....10.50.....12.66

De Lam's.....10.....32.52

Empire, Alum.....5.80.....34.26

Cook's Favorite, Alum.....6.90.....34.92

One Spoon, Alum.....5.75.....58.68

With the foregoing explanation of the comparative value of the different brands. To illustrate with the percentages given the two powders before compared: the Royal containing 11.8 per cent of leaving gas to 10.5 in Price's, its excess of strength is 13 in 10.5, or 124 per cent. Royal is therefore 124 per cent stronger, as well as 71 per cent purer than Price's. etc. The relative strength and purity of all the powders can be computed in like manner. mar-21-td.

The purifiers have been placed in position at the gas-works, and now the public is to have a regular supply of gas at a reduced rate.

Mr. Hamilton McInnis has made this year's mules and several pounds of sugar from one tree, this season. That is an unusually large yield.

Dr. John W. Pratt, late President of Central University, was attacked with paralysis, in Louisville on Thursday, and is in a dangerous condition.

Mr. G. H. Myers bought in Lexington, last week, 25,000 light for the new residence of the Messrs. Forman, and the improvements on Dr. Foster's residence.

Mr. T. J. Tribble, late of the firm of Tribble & Blount, has opened out a new stock of goods at the old stand of J. W. Owens, later Tribble & Blount, at First Street.

Word comes from Mr. Charley Walker that he and his family arrived in Atlanta, last week, and that his prospects for business are good. He will handle live stock.

Messrs. W. J. and J. S. Collins claim to have the largest pig in the world. It is nearly six feet high, and weighs 1,200 pounds. His name is Bourbon Colt, and he stands at $25.

Edith S. W. Crutcher went to Belmont, Mo. the first of the year, from Louisville, and to date has baptized more than forty persons. His family followed last week, and all are well.

Mr. Thomas H. Endrey returned from Georgia on last Wednesday, and says he sold 125 mules at good prices. The mule trade has not been steady for some weeks, but fair prices have ruled.

The Railroad. Col. Bennett Young and others interested in the Louisville Southern Railroad will be here to-day. A proposition will be put in shape.

The United Physician. Dr. Amos Daniel, of Irvine, Ky., is said to be the oldest practicing physician in Kentucky. He was born August 22, 1810, and has been practicing medicine continuously for sixty-five years. Justice Samuel R. Miller of the United States Supreme Court, who was a physician before he became a lawyer, was at one time the patient of Dr. Daniel, as was also, at a later date, the father of ex-Governor McCreary.—Courier-Journal.

Dr. Daniel is the father-in-law of Mr. Bennett Miller, of this place.

The Cocked Case. As soon as the grand jury indicted Hal Cockrell for the killing of Amerline, at Irvine, he was arrested and tried for bail, Senator Bennett, of this place, being one of his attorneys. He was allowed bail which was given, and the trial set for a day in the following week. Senator Bennett could not be present, and the case was continued, Cockrell remaining at liberty on his bond.

A $4,000 Jack. Messrs. J. Stone Walker, W. W. Watts and I. Shelby Irvine returned on last Wednesday from Nashville, Tennessee, whither they went to look at a $4,000 jack recently imported from Spain. They didn't like the "Castilian granules." They say they have better jacks at home. If any three men in Richmond, or Madison county, know a jack when they see one, these three do. Madison must therefore be well to the front in jacks.

Inter-State Collegiate Contest. At B. Shackleford and Butler had Douglas spent Saturday in Lexington, to confer with the committee from the five different colleges interested in the contest, regarding the postponement, from April 8th, to some later date, of the contest. The time will give Central University's representatives to prepare his oration. The time decided on for the contest is Friday evening, April 20th. Mr. David Sweet, of Elizabethtown will represent Central University.

From Georgia. Mr. Samuel Biggestoff returned from Georgia last week whither he went some weeks ago with mules for Mr. Wm. Arnold and Spire Green Mullen. He sold the mules at fair prices, but the market was not entirely satisfactory. Mr. Biggestoff says that Georgia is the best poor man's country in America. Any quantity of land can be bought at $5 to $10 per acre of cotton per acre or $60 worth. Livestock there costs no more than in Kentucky and the weather is good all the year round.

Two Good Stallions. Elsewhere in THE CLIMAX appears the announcement of McKee & Traylor, who are standing the excellent stallions, Almont Blucher and John Wilkes, at their stables near Richmond on the Irvine turnpike. Every man at all interested in the breeding of horses should peruse the descriptions and pedigrees of these two horses. Almont Blucher has fine blood, comprising Albatross, Hambleton, Indian, and other bloods, and has a record of 2:45. John Wilkes' blood comprises Wilkes, Mammoth Pateben and other good strains.

One to Greene & Embury.

Mr. Richard Clark, formerly of this county, but for several years past with Wilkie, Ellet & Co., Cincinnati, has changed over to Greene & Embury, the well-known live-stock commission Merchants of the Union Stock Yards, Cincinnati. Mr. Clark will be in Richmond on county court day, and in the afternoon on his old friends and customers. The change was made because Mr. Clark saw it was his own advantage and he is a valuable acquisition to the firm. Mr. Tatham Embury, one of the firm, is a sufficient guaranty of the firm's business like qualities.

A Word With You.

The long and well established, extensive and reliable house of Shackleford, Gentry & Co., has an elaborate and explicit announcement, occupying a column space, in this issue of THE CLIMAX. Every person now in need of or hereafter expected to need any article in the hardware department, should read it. There is nothing that aids more in the advancement of a firm than good machinery, and no house is better from that to buy than one that handles the best machinery at reasonable prices, and makes good every repair. Such a house is the house of Shackleford, Gentry & Co.

Her First Visit to Town.

Miss Annadine Cain and Mr. Pleasant Comer of the Waco vicinity came to Richmond last week for the first time and were married. She is seventeen years old, was raised in the locality where she now lives, and that was her first visit to Richmond. She could scarcely believe that a town could get to be as large as Richmond. The couple were accompanied by her father who is a young man's surety on the bond for the case of one of the accused in the case of John C. Gentry, who is charged with the murder of John C. Gentry. The judge performed most beautifully and well earned the two dollar william that he charged.

The McCreary Property.

Dr. John M. Foster and Postmaster Willis have divided the Dr. McCreary property, the sale of which to them was announced last week. The doctor gets the house and that part of the lot extending from the eastern edge of the house to the corner of the lot on the west. The room on the east side and the well will be turned down, a vacant lot in front, the grade graded down, &c. The old house and the well and the old brick stable have been removed from Mr. Willis's part, and two residences will be built thereon.

The residence of Mr. George Myers, opposite on a part of the Irvine or Embury lot, is rapidly reaching completion. Altogether that part of the town is "blyng."

Open Session.

The Ephraim Society held their preliminary contest on last Friday evening in their society hall at Central University. Notwithstanding the inclement weather a full house greeted the declaimers. There were eleven contestants. The following young gentlemen were successful in being selected: Mr. Jessie T. Taylor, of Mountain, and Messrs. Thos. Van Lear, G. S. Taylor, Walter Brown, and Sam Curtis, of Kentucky. All of the young gentlemen declaimed well and the contest was heartily enjoyed by all present. Rev. Chas. of Winchester, M. J. C. Burnam and Judge T. J. Scott were judges for the occasion. The contest for the Freshman Declamation medal will be held in the University Chapel Friday, April 27th. There will be ten declaimers, five from each literary society.

Green River Gun Club.

Dr. L. F. Frazer, of this place, secured the invitation of the Green River Gun Club, to join them in a hunt at their club house in the Green River country. They were met at Evansville, Indiana by Messrs. E. R. Norris and L. E. Taylor, of St. Louis, and all proceeded across the Ohio River into the Green River country, Kentucky. Far from civilization in a Green River jungle, those gentlemen and their friends to the number of some thirty or more, have a spacious and elegant club house erected and furnished. It is kept by an experienced and well-paid corps of attendants. Furniture, beds, carpets, pictures and the other requisites—dainties and "sich," for ought we know—are there in profusion. They spent a week in the wilds hunting by day and having card loads of fun by night. They brought away many trophies such as ducks, partridges and snipes.

The Breckell Concert.

As per announcement, a charming musical concert was given at the Courthouse in Richmond, on Friday night, by Miss Breckell, assisted by Miss Jessica Campbell, of Madison Female Institute, and Misses Williams and Howe, of Lexington. Miss Breckell is a trained vocalist of merit, and acquitted herself nobly. Her selections were from Meyerbeer, Rubinstein, Millard, and Ardiell, "L'Adieu" perhaps being her chief-vocal. Miss Howe's piano solos were devoted additions to the performance, the ladies being assisted pianists. Miss Williams herself much credit as accompanist. But the attraction of the evening, as evidenced by flattering notices, was Miss Campbell, whose soft, sweet, mezzo-soprano tones captivated her hearers and brought her repeatedly before the curtain. She possessed a superior voice that has been duly cultivated, and several choice selections, including "Kathleen Mavourneen," were accorded faithful renditions.

Illustrated Madison.

THE CLIMAX purposes getting up an illustrated pamphlet of Richmond and Madison county, and Messrs. Bingham and Skillman, two professional photographers and engravers from Chicago are here making the views, some of which are already in process of engraving. The pamphlet will be about twelve by fifteen inches in size and contain as many pages as the amount of matter will make necessary. The work will be first-class in every particular. If any one doubts that THE CLIMAX is capable of doing the finest printing, examination of pamphlets, catalogues and other book work made up on the main street of the city will convince him. The price of the pamphlet complete will be not more than fifteen cents a copy, and probably more than ten cents. Numbers of views have already been taken, and many more are to be made. The engravings are to be copper plate, and belong to the party for whom made, and can be used on envelopes, letters, booklets and other printing, if not too large. That question of "why don't you boom Richmond?" shall not be asked any more. The railroad is coming, and the boom is coming.

An Easy Case.

One day, last week, William Eldon brought from Nicholasville to Richmond six men—two white and four colored—and lodged them in jail. They were handcuffed and guarded, on the way, and were supposed to be dangerous characters by those who saw their entrance. Eldon claimed to be a detective, and said the men were concerned in the robbery of the distilleries in Jessamine county. The men were brought here to be tried before U. S. Commissioner E. Tutt Burman. The trial came up on Friday, and Mr. A. R. Burnam appeared for the defense. Eldon was the principal witness, and the strongest testimony was a letter which purported to have been written by one of the accused to another of the accused, in which letter the robbery was discussed. Eldon claimed to have intercepted the letter at the Lexington post-office.

Mr. A. R. Burnam asked Eldon if he had arrested any other men connected with the case, and he answered in the affirmative. Burnam then discussed the evidence in the case, and Eldon answered that he had not been arrested for "moonshining," and answered that he had. Commissioner Burman then discussed the evidence, and immediately they set about having Eldon arrested for forging the letter, arresting the parties without warrant, for false arrest, false imprisonment, &c. But Eldon "skipped" before a warrant could be served upon him. They claimed that Eldon accused them of taking the money of the Green River country, and the house of securing a reward offered by the distillers for the parties who robbed them.

The successful prolongation of Chimpanzee
